

Help Your Child Walk in Wisdom

Human sexuality is a gift of God.
It should be accepted with thanksgiving and used
with reverence and joy.

Ultimately, responsibility for sexuality education belongs primarily to a child's parents or guardians.

A home filled with justice and love is the foundation for sound sexual development for all family members.

Sexuality education is not only for the young; it is a life-long process aimed at helping individuals develop their sexuality in a manner suited to their stage of life.

(source: National Council of Churches Commission on Marriage and Family, the Synagogue Council of America Committee on Family and the U.S. Catholic Conference Family Life Bureau)

October is "Let's Talk Month."

Let's Talk About Healthy Relationships....

*No matter the season, there is always a reason to talk with your kids.
They need to hear it from you.*

Parents are the primary sexuality educators of their children. Children and teens that learn the facts about sexuality from their parents are more likely to delay sexual experiences. Be an "askable parents."

If you have any questions about how to start the conversation or about how to keep the dialogue going, please call MOAPPP at 800-657-3697 or 651-644-1447, or log onto www.moappp.org

*"Those who walk in wisdom come through safely."
Proverbs 28:26*

Help Your Child Walk in Wisdom

Human sexuality is a gift of God.
It should be accepted with thanksgiving and used
with reverence and joy.

Ultimately, responsibility for sexuality education belongs primarily to
a child's parents or guardians.

A home filled with justice and love is the foundation for sound sexual development for all family members.

Sexuality education is not only for the young; it is a life-long process
aimed at helping individuals develop their sexuality in a manner suited
to their stage of life.

(source: National Council of Churches Commission on Marriage and Family, the Synagogue Council of America Committee on Family and the U.S. Catholic Conference Family Life Bureau)

October is "Let's Talk Month."

Let's Talk About Healthy Relationships....

*No matter the season, there is always a reason to talk with your kids.
They need to hear it from you.*

Parents are the primary sexuality educators of their children. Children and teens that learn the facts about sexuality from their parents are more likely to delay sexual experiences. Be an "askable parents."

If you have any questions about how to start the conversation or about how to keep the dialogue going, please call MOAPPP at 800-657-3697 or 651-644-1447, or log onto www.moappp.org

*"Those who walk in wisdom come through safely."
Proverbs 28:26*